

AMERICAS SOCIETY / COUNCIL OF THE AMERICAS

HEADS OF STATE and GOVERNMENT

In 2007, the Americas Society and Council of the Americas hosted more Hemispheric leaders than ever before, including leaders from Argentina, Bolivia, Chile, Colombia, the Dominican Republic, Ecuador, El Salvador, Honduras and Guatemala. Leaders spoke about their country's current economic outlook and opportunities to high-level public and private representatives.

Cristina Fernández de Kirchner,
President of Argentina

L to R: Rafael Correa,
President of Ecuador;
Evo Morales, President of
Bolivia; Antonio Saca,
President of El Salvador.

L to R:
Congressman
Gregory Meeks;
Michelle
Bachelet,
President of Chile. José
Manuel Zelaya,
President of Honduras.

L to R: Leonel
Fernández,
President of the Dominican
Republic. Oscar
Berger,
President of Guatemala.
Alvaro Uribe,
President of Colombia.

LEADERS OF THE AMERICAS

Mayor of Mexico City

David Rockefeller; Marcelo Ebrard, Mayor of Mexico City

Chairman of the Subcommittee on the Western Hemisphere

Eliot Engel, U.S. Congressman

Minister of Finance, Chile

Andrés Velasco, Minister of Finance, Chile

Secretary of Energy, Mexico

Georgina Kessel, Secretary of Energy, Mexico

Minister of Economy and Finance, Peru

Luis Carranza Ugarte, Minister of Finance, Peru

Mayor of São Paulo

Gilberto Jassab, Mayor of the city of São Paulo

Canada's Consul General to New York and Ambassador to the U.S.

At a private luncheon, Consul General Daniel Sullivan and Ambassador Michael Wilson talked about the country's foreign policy.

Daniel Sullivan, Canada's Consul General to New York; Michael Wilson, Canadian Ambassador to the U.S.

7th Annual Latin America Conference

The 7th Annual Latin America Conference, hosted in New York, featured speeches by Alejandro Toledo, former President of Peru, and Joseph Crowley, U.S. Congressman.

Susan Segal; Alejandro Toledo, former president of Peru, Chris Sabatini, Senior Director, Policy

Joseph Crowley, U.S. Congressman

Private Dinner for the President of the Millennium Challenge Corporation

Ambassador Antonio Patriota of Brazil; Ambassador John Danilovich, Millennium Challenge Corporation; Ambassador F. Tomas Dueñas of Costa Rica